

30.10.2015

Meeting with the representative of Survival Systems Limited company in ONMA

The meeting with the representative of Survival Systems Limited (Canada) company, Trish Tully, Vice President with M.V. Miyusov, professor, the Rector of ONMA and M.V. Chesnokova, Head of International and Economic Cooperation Department took place in Odessa National Maritime Academy on 30 October.

Survival Systems Limited is a world leader in aircraft over-water ditching simulation. The company has developed a wide range of unique and innovative training technologies and solutions, and set international standards for safety training. Focused mainly on the military and offshore industries, Survival Systems Limited's dedication to delivering highly realistic safety training solutions has helped thousands of employees to survive in emergency situations

